Project Development

:: The blend of specialist, engineering and commercial talent available to us enables us to take forward marine projects from feasibility study through design and development to production.

We offer potential developers a wide range of services. Our project development team can help with:

- project viability: investment and running costs, revenue and profit
- site-selection: a comprehensive range of investigations and surveys, including wave resource, tidal, bathymetric, topographic, geological and infrastructure
- approvals: both onshore and offshore
- expertise: expert opinions from independent specialists
- planning: from planning the project and selecting the appropriate technology to planning logistics and grid interconnections
